ELECTION INVESTIGATION.

We understand the Federal authorities intend to investigate the late election in this County. On last Monday the United States Commissioner, - Stobel, with - Hobbs, Esq., the defeated Independent candidate for Solicitor of the Fifth Circuit, were in town, and examined the Census Returns of the County as well as the poll lists. They then departed; one for Oconee County and the other for Laurens. They stated, while here, that they would return to investigate the excess of the vote polled over the number to which the census returns show the County entitled. We are not informed as to whether the Commissioner took any testimony or not, but we learn from good authority that one of the colored outrage grinders was on the ground ready for work. If the outrage mill must grind, it is well for it to be understood once for all, that the object is not to promote the purity of elections, but to unseat Colonel Aiken and give his place to the defeated, General Stolbrand. We do not believe the Federal Government loves the South so intensely as to expend all its money in reforming the morality of the people here and promoting the purity of elections, while it has such little regard for the Northern people that it leaves them to the unbridled corruption and deporalization arising from the late elections in

CRUELTY TO CONVICTS.

The special joint investigating committee, appointed by concurrent resolution of the last General Assembly, to investigate charges of cruelty to convicts of the South Carolina penitentiary, employed by the Greenwood and Augusta Railroad, was submitted to both Houses of the Legislature last week. The committee spent some time in the work assigned them, visiting the convicts on the Road, inspecting the stockades, and taking testimony in Columbia and along the line of the Road. From the report of the committee it appears that the testimony is voluminous and conflicting. The portion of the testimony relating to the charge of cruelty against those who had charge of the convicts is especially contradictory, and the committee expressed no opinions as to the guilt or innocence of any of those parties, but recommend that the testimony be referred to the Attorney General for such action as the law justifies. This action appears to us eminently wise, for if there has been cruelty the parties are subject to criminal prosecution, and are entitled to an unbiased trial by jury to pass upon the conflicting testimony, which they could not have if their cases had been prejudged by Legislative

The committee exonerate from all criminal conduct the President and Directors of the Road, and find the unusual mortality among the convicts arose from improper diet, want of cleanliness and the insufficiency of the stockades for the number crowded into them. The report with the testimony will have the tendency to prevent the recurrence of the causes which led to such fearful results.

THE COMPTROLLER-GENERAL'S RE-SIGNATION.

Cn last Saturday Col. Coit, who was at the late election elected Comptroller-General, sent his resignation to the Governor, who on last Tuesday laid the same before both Houses of the Legislature. A concurrent resolution to go into an election on yesterday (Wednesday) to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resigna-Houses. The prominent names mentioned in connection with the office are Mr. W. E. Toney, who for four years was a book-keeper in the office, Gen. Bratton and Col. Lipscomb.

Col. Coit's resignation was quite a surprise, and the reasons which he assigns in his letter of resignation, published in another column, are clear and explicit. We regret that he should have regarded it, under the circumstances, a duty to resign his office, since the facts exonerating him from blame were known by the people at the time they cast their votes for him, and the Legislature releasing him from the pecuniary liability incurred by the default of a clerk, was the act of the people through their Representatives; and that, too, without any expectation on their part that such release would lead to Col. Coit's resignation of the office. We think Col. Coit has committed a mistake. The vote of the people at the polls must have convinced Col. Coit of their entire and continued confidence in him, and the act of the Legislature releasing him from pecuniary liability for the default of a subordinate on the grounds of his innocency of all complicity with his clerk and as simple justice to a faithful public officer, should, in our opinion, have induced him to cortinue in the discharge of the high public trusts the people, with a full knowledge of all the facts, had committed into

" A MEMBER FROM ANDERSON."

The Camden Journal is particularly hard on the Legislature, and thinks "it would have been a saving of thousands and thousands of dollars to our people if the present body had never met at all." In discussing the important matters that have come up for consideration in the Assembly,

The question of salaries is another matter that has caused a good deal of comment from outside. The present salaries paid to clerks secretarics, etc., around the Capitol are considered much too large for the amount of work done, as against the cost of similar labor outside. However, it appears that the Legislature—the majority of thematinis different. They act as if their constitutems were millionaires, and should pay articipated.

A member from Anderson, with a small handful to follow him, seems to be the only check those princely gentlemen have upon them, or they would vote away the whole State in a little less than no time. ### THE LEGISLATURE.

Brief Mention of the Important Mensure Introduced and Acted Upon by the General Assembly of the State.

Tuesday, 14th December.

The only matter of general importance considered in the Senate to-day was the duelling bill. A motion to strike out the third Section, which required members of the Legislature and other-Scateofficers, before entering upon the duties of office, to take an eath that they have not engaged in a duel, as principal, second or otherwise, since January 1, 1881, and that they will not do so during their term of office, &c., was voted down by a vote of other sec. offlee, &c., was voted down by a vote of 15 to 10. An additional Section was of-fered and adopted, providing that the provisions of the bill shall not effect any indictment for duelling now pending, and the bill then passed, without further debate, and was ordered for a third read-

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. The agricultural committee reported

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The agricultural committee reported favorably on Senate concurrent resolution to request Congress to make the United States Agricultural Department a full government department and the Commissioner a Cabinet officer.

In the night session of the House the bill to prohibit, the sale of intoxicating liquors in the State was taken up for a second time, and on a molion to strike out the emeting clause, Mr. Prince, of Anderson, said that after witnessing the scene in the House when the ladles' petitions were unrolled, sanetified as they were by the tears and prayers of the broken-hearted women of Charleston and Anderson, he had thought that no man would dare to rise and make such a motion. Every one of every class and color is interested in this matter. It is a matter that is fraught with great good or great evil to our State, and it is being thought of and discussed by good people everywhere. This traffic in liquor weighs down ril business, burdens the people with debt and taxes, and it sits upon society like a mighty incubus. It is a principle of law that one person shall not use his property so as to injure another. Therefore it is the duty of government to throw around society such protections as will enable it to reach the ultima thule of liberty and happiness. He continued in an eloquent strain to detail the evils of the liquor traffic. He said that it was no argument against the bill to say that it would not stop the use and sale of liquors, because co law to punish crime does actually succeed in entirely suppressing the crime. He alinded to the evils resulting from the carrying of pistols, and said that the harm do are by pistols was mostly when they were in the hands of intoxicated mea. The true reason for the opposition to the bill is that men are afraid of the liquor power. If the question were put to the conscience of every member, they would answer that this traffic should be banished from the land.

sciencs of every member, they would answer that this traffic should be banished from the land,

Mr. Murray moved to lay the bill on the table, which was agreed to.

The substitute offered by the Ways and Means Committee, which required a State ifcense of $100 for the sale of intoxicating liquor at retail or otherwise, in addition to the amount required by the county or town, and made the selling without such license a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment for more than $500 or imprisonment for more than twelve months, was then take 1 up.

Mr. Murray moved to make the license $200, and in support of his position, said he would prefer a license of $500, but he recognized the face that the House would not agree with him in that. He thought the bill a step in the right direction. The amendment was adopted.

After being amended in several particulars, further consideration of the bill was postponed until to-morrow.

THE SENATE.

The matter of importance in the Senate to-day was a bill to exempt the real estate and invested capital of immigrants from taxation, except for school purposes, for a period of five years immediately following their removal to the State. It was amended so as to limit the amount to $1,500, and passed to a third reading. Senator Crayton voted for the bill. THE SENATE.

The motion to reconsider was then adopted, and the license was reduced from the roadside. The bill was finally defeated.

The bill to regulate the granting of divorces, being a bill to allow divorces on the ground of adultery and no other cause, also came in for a general discussion. Messrs. McCrady, Hemphill and Rucker opposed the bill, taking the line that South Carolina should adhere to the principle which had governed the people for two hundred years, during which no divorce laws had been enacted except during the sbort interval under Radical rule. Mr. Dargan favored the bill. The bill was defeated.

The bill to prevent illicit traffic in seed cotton passed the second reading. The bill provides that any one who buys seed cotton knowing it to be stolen shall be punished by not less than ten nor more than thirty years' imprisonment in the Penitentiary.

Thursday, 16th Becember.

Thursday, 16th December.

The session of the Senate to-day was un'mportant. The only matter that reated any debate whatever was a resolution instructing the Attorney-General to institute proceedings in the State courts to determine whether or not the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta Railroad has forfeited its charter, which passed by a small vote.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. After the passage of some bills of minor importance the liquor question was again brought before the House on a motion by Mr. Gary to reconsider the vote whereby the bill to further regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors in this State was continued to the next session yesterday. The motion to reconsider was adopted and the bill was again before the House. Mr. Simonton moved to continue the Mr. Simonton moved to continue the bill to the next session. Upon this motion the yote stoot, yeas 31, nays 67.

For several moments after the announcement of this vote it was impossible to secure order, the excitement among some of the members was so the ground that an acknowledged evil should not be licensed, that it throws the whole of the county taxes upon the city as far as Charleston is concerned. All the other bills bearing on the same subject were tabled.

The only work of general interest which the Senate performed to-day was the passage of the bill prohibiting the carrying of concealed weapons by a surprisingly good majority.

The concurrent resolution in relation to Col. Colt was then considered. The text is as follows:

Resolved, by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring, That the General Assembly, taking into consideration the valuable services rendered to the State by James C. Colt, Esq., special Commissioner, the amount of labor imposed upon him in the several Acts of Assembly, and the strict fidelity with which he discharged the duties which devolved upon him, do hereby exonorate him from all personal responsibility for the loss occasioned to the State in connection with the funding of the bills of the Aank of the State.

After some discussion there was a vira voce vote and the resolution was adopted, two or three voices in the negative.

At the night session the appropriation bill passed its third reading with the following most important amendments:—
The Railraad Commissioner's salary is fixed at $2,100, his clerk's at $1,000, and $350 allowed for contingent expenses; $5,000 are appropriated for the Yorktown Centennial. The bill prohibiting the buying and selling of seed cotton, and joint resolution to hire convicts to Sample & Westmore, of North Carolina, for shoomaking purposes, were killed. A resolution was offered that when the House adjourn it adjourn to meet on the 15th next November.

It will give a session of about two weeks before the day fixed for the meeting of the Legislature by 'Constitution next November, an enable the clearing off of a large number of measures which cannot possibly be reached now.

At the night session the bill to extend the charter of the Lexington and Columbia Water Power Company passed its third reading.

In resigning the office to which I have myself, as well as to the people who placed me there, to state the reasons which moved me to do so.

While not personally favoring the

it was my fortune to be placed upon the State ticket by the unanimous voice of the Democratic Convention which met at that time.

Within one short month thereafter, while engaged in an earnest endeavor to discharge faithfully the duties which had previously been imposed upon me, and feeling, as I thought, a just pride in having done so with honor to myself, I was suddenly stricken down by an unforeseen misfortune.

I have never felt that I could blame
